Anyone living and working in Hamburg knows how the city's heart beats. The harbour is particularly fascinating: here everything is constantly changing, so making plans isn't an easy task. Every day brings with it new challenges. It was precisely this that in 2007 gave Jörg Hamann, a ship machinery engineering graduate, both the motivation and inspiration to found a company that sees itself as a service provider in every sense of the word. "Providing services" at any time, any location, in a flexible, reliable way and with the highest quality.

Why choose Montec24?

We offer the necessary flexibility and professionalism to carry out your projects from start to finish. A contact for everything relating to repair, maintenance and cleaning of your valuable machines and systems. Decades of experience means we can now offer everything from a single source. Engineering graduate Jörg Hamann draws on the following experience:

- 14 years sailing all the oceans, 4 of which as a leading technical officer
- 9 years working as the managing director of a construction company
- 7 years working as operations manager and general manager – then 2 years working as a managing director in industry cleaning

Experience can only be implemented with a skilled and reliable team.

In order to cover such a large range of services, the Montec24 GmbH team includes metal workers, machine fitters, ship builders, electricians/electronic engineers as well as auxiliary forces from numerous different trades.

This magazine offers you a glimpse of the services we offer.
